KEYS to Effective Ministry Through Personal Wholeness

Seminar presented by:
Frank Meadows MSW, LCSW

September 16, 2006 (Saturday)

Working on your own inner healing, wholeness and lie-based issues can be difficult; yet this is a necessary part of providing good and effective ministry to others. Those who counsel, pastor or minister to others have a heart to help people but unfortunately too often neglect their own self care and personal healing. Frank Meadows will share some practical principles to help us walk in our own personal healing and wholeness and will also address many of the hindrances that keep this from occurring.

Sponsored by:
Hampton Roads Healing Prayer Center and
Christian Psychotherapy Services

KEYS to Effective Ministry Through Personal Wholeness

About the Seminar

Working on your own inner healing, wholeness and lie-based issues can be difficult; yet this is a necessary part of providing good and effective ministry to others. Those who counsel, pastor or minister to others have a heart to help people but unfortunately too often neglect their own self care and personal healing. Frank Meadows will share some practical principles to help us walk in our own personal healing and wholeness and will also address many of the hindrances that keep this from occurring.

The challenge for us is to mature in Christ in all ways and not to defend and hide ourselves from God and others. We need to examine ourselves, open ourselves to the Holy Spirit and allow Him to help us deal with our secret sins, compulsive behaviors and our wounded past where lie-based thinking is rooted.

A renewed mind and emotional healing results in us truly knowing who we are in Christ and moving fully into His plans and purposes for our lives.

The wounds or issues in our lives that we refuse to address and attempt to hide limit our fruitfulness and ministry effectiveness in God's Kingdom and can even destroy our ministry.

This seminar is designed to help us look honestly at our own healing journey and hindrances to moving forward. You will learn about Theophostic® Healing Prayer as a great tool to heal and renew us as well as develop a proactive plan of action for your own healing journey.

Who Should Attend This workshop will be of value to:

1. Pastors, leaders and those who are in various types of Christian Service
2. Counselors and those in the helping professions
3. Those who minister inner healing prayer whether professional or laymen
4. Layety who minister in various ways through their local church or ministries

What You Will Learn

1. Barriers we need to overcome in dealing with our personal wounds
2. Common reasons or excuses we use to avoid our personal healing
3. Signs of needing personal healing
4. How to develop our own discipline of personal inner healing
5. Personal healing inventory and developing a plan of action
6. Overview of Theophostic® Healing Prayer
7. A demonstration of Theophostic® Healing Prayer by Frank Meadows

About Your Workshop Speaker:

Frank Meadows is presently developing the Hampton Roads Healing Prayer Center in Chesapeake, VA. For years, he has counseled and ministered inner healing prayer to many people in the Hampton Roads area. Many others have come from across the United States to receive Frank's ministry for extended times of healing prayer. Since 1999, he has ministered to others over 10,000 hours using Theophostic® Healing Prayer.

Frank has taught and facilitated many Theophostic® Basic Training Seminars and healing prayer training in the region, across the United States and internationally. He presented at the Theophostic® International Convention in 2003 and will make a presentation again at 2006 Convention in Orlando, Florida.

In 2006, Frank went to Turkey to train and minister Theophostic® Healing Prayer to key pastors and leaders in the Turkish church who are influential throughout the Middle East. He and his team are planning to return to Turkey to continue to train and help establish a Healing Prayer Center.

Frank is a mental health professional and a clinical social worker. He is the clinical director of the Chesapeake office of Christian Psychotherapy Services in Chesapeake, Virginia. He has been in practice there for the past 17 years ministering to clients with emotional, relational, spiritual and abuse trauma recovery issues. He has been trained by Ed Smith D. Min. in Theophostic® Healing Prayer at the Advanced Theophostic® and all Apprenticeship levels (including SRA). He is also an Advanced Theophostic® Video facilitator.
